When we listen to a song that we like, we can't help swaying to the rhythm of its beat. We are actually dancing.

Dancing can help us express our emotions. In the past, tribes practised a war dance before a war and after a victory. The dancers were showing others that they were brave and strong. They were wearing scary masks and jumping wildly to some rhythms while other people were watching the dance performance.

In some parts of the world, villagers perform country folks because they believe that dances can do a magical charm on the weather. They dance to bring the sun or rain, to hope for a good crop or to welcome the harvesting season.

Each country has its own traditional dance with its heritage and customs. Some dances become popular throughout the world like Germany's waltz or Cuba's mambo.

When we are feeling lonely, we should consider taking part in social dancing. We can meet new friends and dance in local dance groups. Community centres organise events, and it is a good place to socialise and do exercise at the same time.

RSPCA stands for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. (17) _____ in 1824, it is one of the oldest and largest animal welfare charity in the world. Its main aim is to prevent cruelty to animals by promoting their care and protection. It also ensures that pets, farm animals and wild animals are not harmed in any way. Here are some of the things that the organization does. Firstly, it rescues and treats animals. Every day of the year, the inspectors investigate cruelty complaints. If necessary, they will take animals away from harmful situations and make sure the animals get the (18) _____ and care they need. Secondly, the RSPCA has animal shelters across the country where stray animals are looked after until they can find a new home. In addition, it organizes campaigns on important issues in order to get a change in the law. In 2005, it succeeded in making fox hunting illegal. Through its campaigns, it also helps (19) _____ community awareness of animal welfare issues. What can you do to help the RSPCA? You can make a donation, adopt a homeless animal, or participate (20) _____ a variety of interesting fundraising events such as the Million Paws Walk or Cupcake Day. When we listen to a song that we like, we can't help swaying to the rhythm of its beat. We are actually dancing.

Dancing can help us express our emotions. In the past, tribes practised a war dance before a war and after a victory. The dancers were showing others that they were brave and strong. They were wearing scary masks and jumping wildly to some rhythms while other people were watching the dance performance.

In some parts of the world, villagers perform country folks because they believe that dances can do a magical charm on the weather. They dance to bring the sun or rain, to hope for a good crop or to welcome the harvesting season.

Each country has its own traditional dance with its heritage and customs. Some dances become popular throughout the world like Germany's waltz or Cuba's mambo.

When we are feeling lonely, we should consider taking part in social dancing. We can meet new friends and dance in local dance groups. Community centres organise events, and it is a good place to socialise and do exercise at the same time.

Scientists have been studying the effects of global warming on different ecosystems for a long time and what they have found is quite worrying. The (19) _____ temperatures have caused many problems in ecosystems. Arctic ice is melting, causing sea levels to rise and floods in seaside areas. As a result, animals and plants are losing their homes. As oceans and rivers become warmer, the water temperatures keep changing. (20) _____ marine animals cannot live in these new conditions. Since the 1970s, population of fish in lakes and rivers have decreased by 76 percent.

Plastics which were produced from fossil fuels are just over a century old, but they have revolutionized our life completely. The great advantages plastic offered led to a throwaway trend that made us discover plastic's dark side: the threat it poses to our environment and life. Plastic pollution is one of the main causes of marine species extinction, health problems for human beings and animals alike, and the destruction of our ecosystems. According to Greenpeace, more than 100,000 sea creatures and a million sea birds die every year after eating plastic or getting trapped in plastic rubbish.

Every year, the world produces more than 380 million tonnes of plastic. In the next second while you're reading this paragraph, people around the globe will use more than 160,000 plastic bags and they'll throw away more than 20,000 plastic bottles. About 10% of plastic will be recycled, and some will go to landfills, but a lot of it will end up in the waterways and eventually in the ocean. Experts estimate that there are already 5.25 trillion pieces of plastic waste in the world's oceans. Because plastic isn't biodegradable, it won't decompose naturally, so all the plastic that we have now in the world will exist forever. Experts are warning that if we don't take urgent action, plastics in the ocean will outweigh fish by 2050. There are many ways we can do to keep plastic out of the ocean. We can swap plastic bags for reusable ones which are made of cloth or fiber, reduce the use of disposable cutlery as well as food containers, and avoid plastic wrappings if possible. We can also join in clean-up campaigns in your local community. Every little helps!

RUNNING OUT OF TIME ...

From melting arctic ice caps to forest fires, global warming is heating up the planet and damaging (17) _____ Earth's ecosystems. Global warming is the rise of the Earth's temperatures caused by an increase of CO₂ and other greenhouse gas emissions. Global warming has increased very much (18) _____ the past 100 years because people are using more and more electricity and driving more cars. We are also cutting down more trees that clean the air.

Scientists have been studying the effects of global warming on different ecosystems for a long time and what they have found is quite worrying. The (19) _____ temperatures have caused many problems in ecosystems. Arctic ice is melting, causing sea levels to rise and floods in seaside areas. As a result, animals and plants are losing their homes. As oceans and rivers become warmer, the water temperatures keep changing. (20) _____ marine animals cannot live in these new conditions. Plastics which were produced from fossil fuels are just over a century old, but they have revolutionized our life completely. The great advantages plastic offered led to a throwaway trend that made us discover plastic's dark side: the threat it poses to our environment and life. Plastic pollution is one of the main causes of marine species extinction, health problems for human beings and animals alike, and the destruction of our ecosystems. According to Greenpeace, more than 100,000 sea creatures and a million sea birds die every year after eating plastic or getting trapped in plastic rubbish.

Every year, the world produces more than 380 million tonnes of plastic. In the next second while you're reading this paragraph, people around the globe will use more than 160,000 plastic bags and they'll throw away more than 20,000 plastic bottles. About 10% of plastic will be recycled, and some will go to landfills, but a lot of it will end up in the waterways and eventually in the ocean. Experts estimate that there are already 5.25 trillion pieces of plastic waste in the world's oceans. Because plastic isn't biodegradable, it won't decompose naturally, so all the plastic that we have now in the world will exist forever. Experts are warning that if we don't take urgent action, plastics in the ocean will outweigh fish by 2050. There are many ways we can do to keep plastic out of the ocean. We can swap plastic bags for reusable ones which are made of cloth or fiber, reduce the use of disposable cutlery as well as food containers, and avoid plastic wrappings if possible. We can also join in clean-up campaigns in your local community. Every little helps!

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 46 to 50.

If you want to make your school green, think beyond your classrooms. Here are some suggestions that are all easy and simple to follow, and can make a big difference in reducing your carbon footprint and creating a sustainable community.

One of the places where both teachers and students often spend some of their time is the library. An eco-friendly reading space is likely to create a favourable impression on library users, and bring some significant educational benefits. For example, you can install energy-saving products like fans instead of air-conditioners which consume a lot of energy. You can also use biodegradable dust cloths or old T-shirts to clean the environment. In addition, to raise public awareness, allocate a clearly visible space on the noticeboard for everyday green tips like 'Let others reuse your book'.

Sporty students may prefer to spend more time in the swimming pool than in the library. Therefore, keeping this place safe and green will also help to raise their environmental awareness. Remember that chlorinated pool water may cause red eyes and itchy skin to some people if they spend much time in the pool. An ideal alternative would be a salt-water pool, which can be naturally clean and economical. In case warm water is required, think of solar heating to save the environment as one pool with gas or electric heater may emit tons of carbon dioxide each year.

Finally, focus on the school gym, which is perhaps the most interactive and exciting place for all school staff. Think of installing low-flow taps and showers to save gallons of water per minute and energy-saving lights to cut the cost of electricity. Moreover, make sure that the airflow pathways are clear and free of mould, mildew and other allergens.

- Question 46: What is the best title for the text?
A. How to make your community green
B. How to make your school green
C. Ways to raise students' awareness of enviroment
D. Students may prefer outside activities to saving energy.

Question 47: Which energy-saving product is NOT mentioned in the text?

A. low-flow taps and showers

B. energy-efficient windows

C. solar heating

D. fans

Question 48: Where may sporty students prefer to spend more time ?

A. in the school gym

B. in the swimming pool

C. in the classroom

D. in the library

Question 49: What can best replace the word “sustainable” in the paragraph 1?

A. polluted

B. disappointed

C. green

D. endangered

Question 50: Which of the following is NOT true according to the passage?

A. Students make sure that the airflow pathways are clear and free of mould, mildew and other allergens.

B. The school library, which should be installed energy-saving products in, is one of the places where both teachers and students often spend some of their time.

C. The school gym is perhaps the most interactive and exciting place for all school staff.

D. A swimming pool using solar energy to heat water emits an amount of carbon dioxide as much as the pool with gas or electric heater.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 46 to 50.

If you want to make your school green, think beyond your classrooms. Here are some suggestions that are all easy and simple to follow, and can make a big difference in reducing your carbon footprint and creating a sustainable community.

One of the places where both teachers and students often spend some of their time is the library. An eco-friendly reading space is likely to create a favourable impression on library users, and bring some significant educational benefits. For example, you can install energy-saving products like fans instead of air-conditioners which consume a lot of energy. You can also use biodegradable dust cloths or old T-shirts to clean the environment. In addition, to raise public awareness, allocate a clearly visible space on the noticeboard for everyday green tips like 'Let others reuse your book'.

Sporty students may prefer to spend more time in the swimming pool than in the library. Therefore, keeping this place safe and green will also help to raise their environmental awareness. Remember that chlorinated pool water may cause red eyes and itchy skin to some people if they spend much time in the pool. An ideal alternative would be a salt-water pool, which can be naturally clean and economical. In case warm water is required, think of solar heating to save the environment as one pool with gas or electric heater may emit tons of carbon dioxide each year.

Finally, focus on the school gym, which is perhaps the most interactive and exciting place for all school staff. Think of installing low-flow taps and showers to save gallons of water per minute and energy-saving lights to cut the cost of electricity. Moreover, make sure that the airflow pathways are clear and free of mould, mildew and other allergens.

Question 46: What is the best title for the text?

A. How to make your school green

B. How to make your community green

C. Ways to raise students' awareness of environment

D. Students may prefer outside activities to saving energy.

Question 47: Which energy-saving product is NOT mentioned in the text?

A. low-flow taps and showers

B. fans

C. solar heating

D. energy-efficient windows

Question 48: Where may sporty students prefer to spend more time ?

A. in the school gym

B. in the swimming pool

C. in the classroom

D. in the library

Question 49: What can best replace the word “sustainable” in the paragraph 1?

A. polluted

B. disappointed

C. green

D. endangered

Question 50: Which of the following is NOT true according to the passage?

A. Students make sure that the airflow pathways are clear and free of mould, mildew and other allergens.

B. A swimming pool using solar energy to heat water emits an amount of carbon dioxide as much as the pool with gas or electric heater.

C. The school gym is perhaps the most interactive and exciting place for all school staff.

D. The school library, which should be installed energy-saving products in, is one of the places where both teachers and students often spend some of their time.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 46 to 50.

If you want to make your school green, think beyond your classrooms. Here are some suggestions that are all easy and simple to follow, and can make a big difference in reducing your carbon footprint and creating a sustainable community.

One of the places where both teachers and students often spend some of their time is the library. An eco-friendly reading space is likely to create a favourable impression on library users, and bring some significant educational benefits. For example, you can install energy-saving products like fans instead of air-conditioners which consume a lot of energy. You can also use biodegradable dust cloths or old T-shirts to clean the environment. In addition, to raise public awareness, allocate a clearly visible space on the noticeboard for everyday green tips like 'Let others reuse your book'.

Sporty students may prefer to spend more time in the swimming pool than in the library. Therefore, keeping this place safe and green will also help to raise their environmental awareness. Remember that chlorinated pool water may cause red eyes and itchy skin to some people if they spend much time in the pool. An ideal alternative would be a salt-water pool, which can be naturally clean and economical. In case warm water is required, think of solar heating to save the environment as one pool with gas or electric heater may emit tons of carbon dioxide each year.

Finally, focus on the school gym, which is perhaps the most interactive and exciting place for all school staff. Think of installing low-flow taps and showers to save gallons of water per minute and energy-saving lights to cut the cost of electricity. Moreover, make sure that the airflow pathways are clear and free of mould, mildew and other allergens.

Question 46: What is the best title for the text?

ĐỀ BÀI

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 1 to 5.

If you want to make your school green, think beyond your classrooms. Here are some suggestions that are all easy and simple to follow, and can make a big difference in reducing your carbon footprint and creating a sustainable community.

One of the places where both teachers and students often spend some of their time is the library. An eco-friendly reading space is likely to create a favourable impression on library users, and bring some significant educational benefits. For example, you can install energy-saving products like fans instead of air-conditioners which consume a lot of energy. You can also use biodegradable dust cloths or old T-shirts to clean the environment. In addition, to raise public awareness, allocate a clearly visible space on the noticeboard for everyday green tips like 'Let others reuse your book'.

Sporty students may prefer to spend more time in the swimming pool than in the library. Therefore, keeping this place safe and green will also help to raise their environmental awareness. Remember that chlorinated pool water may cause red eyes and itchy skin to some people if they spend much time in the pool. An ideal alternative would be a salt-water pool, which can be naturally clean and economical. In case warm water is required, think of solar heating to save the environment as one pool with gas or electric heater may emit tons of carbon dioxide each year.

Finally, focus on the school gym, which is perhaps the most interactive and exciting place for all school staff. Think of installing low-flow taps and showers to save gallons of water per minute and energy-saving lights to cut the cost of electricity. Moreover, make sure that the airflow pathways are clear and free of mould, mildew and other allergens.
